Siobhan Talbott : Conflict, Commerce and Franco-Scottish Relations, 1560ndash;1713 (Perspectives in Economic and Social History) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Conflict, Commerce and Franco-Scottish Relations, 1560ndash;1713 (Perspectives in Economic and Social History):

Using untapped archival sources from Britain, France and America, Talbott presents a comparative view of British relations with France over the long seventeenth century.

About the Author Siobhan Talbott is a research fellow at the University of Manchester, and previously held fellowship at the Institute of Historical Research, London. Her research interests lie in early modern British, European, and Atlantic economic and social history, and in particular the ways in which wars and other political conflicts affected trade routes and commercial relationships. She is Treasurer of the Economic and Social History Society of Scotland.
