From North Holland : National Trade Policies (Studies in Comparative Economic Policies) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised National Trade Policies (Studies in Comparative Economic Policies):

The aim of this volume is to examine and compare the trade policies followed by the most important trading nations of the world. Today there are few, if any, large scale studies of comparative trade such as this one. Moreover trade policies and controversies are expected to become even more important in the future. The volume offers an easily accessible overview of trade policies in each of the world's major trading countries. Thus, this handbook can be of great use to students of comparative economic systems in general and to economists, policymakers, and the general informed public, serving as a comprehensive source of reference and comparison. The references at the end of each chapter and the selected bibliography at the end of the volume identify the most important sources of additional information on the trade policies of the world's most important trading countries.

"The volume is a useful reference source, especially for students of comparative economic systems."-ARBA?The volume is a useful reference source, especially for students of comparative economic systems.?-ARBAAbout the AuthorDOMINICK SALVATORE is Professor of Economics at Fordham University, where he specializes in international trade and finance.
